1. Introduction

This report provides a comprehensive overview of the progress made in implementing the National Social Security Strategy (NSSS) Action Plan-Phase II (2021-2026) in Bangladesh during the year 2024. The NSSS, introduced in 2015, is a cornerstone of Bangladesh's commitment to social development and poverty reduction. It aims to create a robust and inclusive social security system that protects vulnerable populations, including the elderly, persons with disabilities, women and children, and low-income households, while fostering equitable growth and contributing to the nation's sustainable development goals.

The NSSS Action Plan-Phase II, spanning from 2021 to 2026, translates the NSSS vision into concrete actions. It outlines 688 specific objectives and targets across 39 ministries and government agencies, reflecting a whole-of-government approach to social security reform. This comprehensive approach recognizes the interconnectedness of social protection with various sectors, including health, education, labor, and rural development, ensuring a multi-sectoral approach to addressing poverty and vulnerability.

As of 2024, significant strides have been made in implementing these action items. A majority are actively underway and progressing towards completion within the defined timeframe. This report offers a detailed account of this progress, outlining key successes, identifying challenges encountered, and highlighting areas that require intensified focus to ensure the successful fulfillment of the NSSS objectives.

This assessment is built upon a robust and collaborative methodology, incorporating data and insights from diverse sources. Consultations with relevant ministries and agencies, combined with rigorous analysis by the Cabinet Division and review by the Action Plan Sub-Committee, ensure the accuracy and comprehensiveness of the findings presented. Technical assistance from the Social Security Policy Support (SSPS) Programme has further strengthened the analytical rigor of this report.

By providing a transparent and evidence-based evaluation of the NSSS Action Plan-Phase II implementation, this report serves as an invaluable tool for policymakers, stakeholders, and development partners. It enables effective monitoring of progress, facilitates informed decision-making, and promotes accountability in the pursuit of a more just and inclusive society in Bangladesh.

Beyond simply tracking progress, this report aims to foster a deeper understanding of the factors influencing implementation. It delves into the specific achievements of different ministries, showcasing successful initiatives like the expansion of the social safety net program, which now reaches over 5 million households, and the introduction of the social health protection program. It also highlights areas where challenges persist, such as improving targeting accuracy and inter-agency coordination. By analyzing both successes and shortcomings, this report seeks to identify best practices, draw lessons learned, and inform strategies for enhancing implementation effectiveness.

Ultimately, this evaluation contributes to the ongoing efforts to strengthen Bangladesh's social protection system and ensure that the NSSS effectively serves its purpose of reducing poverty, promoting social justice, and driving sustainable development. It provides a critical assessment of the current state of implementation, offering valuable insights to guide future actions and ensure the NSSS continues to make progress towards its ambitious goals.

1.1. NSSS Action Plan

The National Social Security Strategy (NSSS) of Bangladesh provides a long-term roadmap for social protection reforms, aiming to effectively address the interconnected challenges of poverty, vulnerability, and marginalization. To translate this vision into action, the NSSS is implemented through a phased action plan. The first phase, spanning 2016 to 2021, laid the groundwork for programmatic reforms. Building on this foundation, the current phase (2021-2026) focuses on consolidating existing programs and modernizing the social security delivery system.

This Action Plan, Phase-2, was developed under the guidance of the NSSS Action Plan Sub-Committee and finalized by the Ministry with the endorsement of the Hon'ble Prime Minister. It is structured around three key components:

National Plan: This section outlines the overarching framework for social security reform, drawing directly from the NSSS and setting national priorities.

Ministry Action Plans: Each of the 39 participating ministries/divisions has formulated detailed action plans, ensuring a coordinated and comprehensive approach to implementation. These plans were developed through collaborative workshops involving focal points and relevant officials from each ministry.

Thematic Cluster Action Plans: This section provides a deeper dive into specific thematic areas, offering a comprehensive analysis of the current situation, justification for program classifications, and targeted action plans to address key challenges within each thematic cluster.

The Action Plan, Phase-2 emphasizes a lifecycle approach to social security, ensuring that programs are tailored to the specific needs of individuals at different stages of life. It also prioritizes modernization of the delivery system through initiatives such as a Single Registry Management Information System (MIS), Government-to-Person (G2P) payments, Grievance Redress System (GRS), and a robust results-based Monitoring and Evaluation (M&E) framework. These efforts aim to enhance efficiency, transparency, and accountability in the delivery of social protection programs, ultimately contributing to a more effective and equitable social security system in Bangladesh.

1.2. Social Protection Budgets of Ministries

This section presents the ministry-wise budget allocation for social protection in Bangladesh, revealing a strategic distribution of resources across various government bodies. The Finance Division commands the largest share of the budget, receiving 32.40 crore taka, highlighting its pivotal role in managing major social security schemes and overseeing large-scale programs with significant financial implications. Following closely is the Ministry of Disaster Management and Relief with an allocation of 313.07 crore taka, underscoring the country's vulnerability to natural disasters and the critical need for timely and effective relief efforts.

Education emerges as another priority area, with the Secondary and Higher Education Division receiving a substantial 278.15 crore taka, emphasizing the government's focus on human capital development and investing in the future workforce. The Ministry of Agriculture also receives a significant allocation of 285.06 crore taka, reflecting the importance of agricultural development and food security in the country's social protection strategy.

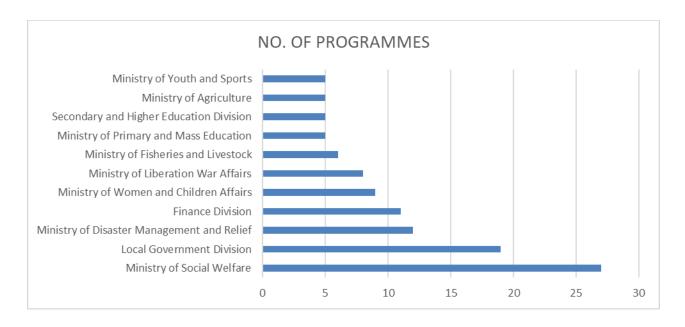

Interestingly, while the Ministry of Social Welfare operates the largest number of programs (27 in total), its budget allocation of 144.12 crore taka is comparatively lower than other ministries. This suggests a strategic approach focused on implementing a wide range of programs with potentially smaller individual budgets, catering to diverse needs within the population.

This data underscores the government's multifaceted approach to social protection, balancing large-scale initiatives with targeted interventions to address a wide array of vulnerabilities and promote social well-being. The allocation of resources across different ministries reflects a commitment to both immediate needs, such as disaster relief, and long-term goals, such as human capital development and agricultural advancement.

1.3. Number of Programs

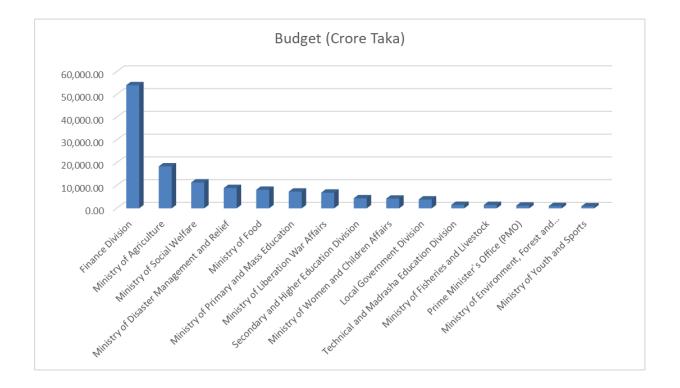

This chart illustrates the number of social protection programs managed by various ministries in Bangladesh, specifically those with 5 or more programs. The Ministry of Social Welfare leads with the highest number of programs at 27, followed by the Local Government Division with 19. The Ministry of Disaster Management and Relief oversees 12 programs, while the Finance Division and Ministry of Women and Children Affairs each manage 11 and 9 programs respectively. Ministries such as Youth and Sports, Agriculture, Secondary and Higher Education, Primary and Mass Education, Fisheries and Livestock, and Liberation War Affairs all have between 5 and 8 programs each. This data highlights the varying levels of involvement across different ministries in addressing social protection needs within Bangladesh.

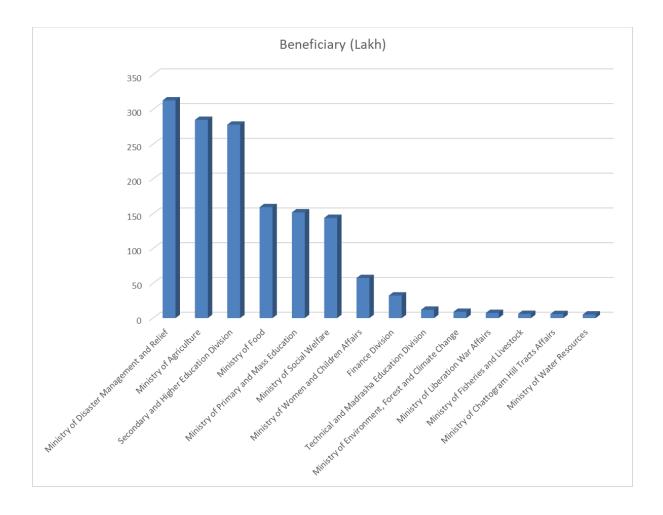

1.4. Budget Ratio of Ministries

The following chart presents a clear picture of budget allocation for social protection programs in Bangladesh, specifically highlighting ministries receiving over 8,000 crore taka. The Finance Division dominates with the largest allocation, exceeding 50,000 crore taka, reflecting its central role in managing major social security schemes. Following closely is the Ministry of Agriculture with over 20,000 crore taka, emphasizing the importance of agricultural development and food security in the nation's social protection strategy. Interestingly, the Ministry of Social Welfare, despite managing the highest number of programs, secures the third position with an allocation exceeding 10,000 crore taka. This suggests a focus on implementing a diverse range of programs with potentially smaller individual budgets. The chart further illustrates the budget allocations for other key ministries, including Disaster Management and Relief, Food, Primary and Mass Education, Liberation War Affairs, Secondary and Higher Education, and others, each exceeding 8,000 crore taka. This data underscores the government's commitment to addressing a wide array of social needs and vulnerabilities through substantial financial investment across various sectors.

1.5. Ministry Wise Beneficiaries

This table provides a snapshot of the beneficiary reach of various ministries in Bangladesh engaged in social protection programs, specifically those impacting over 5 lakh beneficiaries. The Ministry of Disaster Management and Relief takes the lead, reaching the highest number of beneficiaries at 313.07 lakh, highlighting its critical role in responding to natural calamities and providing relief to affected populations. The Ministry of Agriculture follows closely behind with 285.06 lakh beneficiaries, underscoring the importance of agricultural initiatives in supporting livelihoods and food security.

Interestingly, despite having the highest number of programs and the third-highest budget allocation, the Ministry of Social Welfare reaches 144.12 lakh beneficiaries, placing it sixth in this ranking. This suggests that its programs may be more targeted towards specific vulnerable groups or focused on interventions with a smaller individual reach. The table further illustrates the beneficiary reach of other key ministries, including Secondary and Higher Education, Food,

Primary and Mass Education, Women and Children Affairs, Finance Division, and Technical and Madrasah Education. This data collectively demonstrates the breadth and depth of social protection efforts in Bangladesh, with various ministries playing crucial roles in reaching and supporting diverse segments of the population.

1.6. List of Programs

The table presents a list of social protection programs implemented by the Government of Bangladesh, outlining key details such as the program name, responsible ministry, number of beneficiaries, and allocated budget. The data reveals that the government operates a diverse range of programs covering a broad spectrum of needs. These include social safety nets like Old Age Allowance and Allowances for Physically Challenged Persons, aimed at providing financial support to vulnerable groups. Education support is another key area, with initiatives like Stipend for Primary School Students and Free Textbook Distribution focusing on improving access to and retention in education. Disaster relief programs such as Relief Operation - General and Food For Work assist communities affected by natural disasters, while food security programs like Food Subsidy and Open Market Sales ensure access to affordable food.

The number of beneficiaries varies significantly across programs. Agricultural Subsidy stands out with the highest number, indicating its widespread reach and importance in supporting the agricultural sector. Other programs with a large beneficiary base include Stipend for Primary School Students, Open Market Sales (OMS), and Vulnerable Group Feeding (VGF). In terms of budget allocation, Pension Management receives the highest, reflecting the significant financial commitment to providing pensions. Agricultural Subsidy follows closely, underscoring the government's priority in supporting agricultural development. Other programs with substantial budgets include Interest on National Savings Schemes, Fund for Mitigating Impacts of Economic and Natural Disaster, and Honorarium for Heroic Freedom Fighters.

Several key trends emerge from the data. There is a clear focus on vulnerable groups, with significant resources dedicated to social safety nets for the elderly, widows, physically challenged individuals, and children. Investment in education is also a priority, with substantial allocations to programs aimed at human capital development. Disaster preparedness and response are addressed through a significant portion of the budget dedicated to mitigating the impacts of natural disasters. Overall, the table provides a valuable overview of the government's social protection programs, highlighting their diversity, reach, and budgetary priorities. This information can be crucial for policymakers in evaluating program effectiveness, identifying areas for improvement, and ensuring that social protection initiatives effectively address the needs of the most vulnerable members of society.

2. Implementation Progress of NSSS Action Plan of Ministries/Divisions

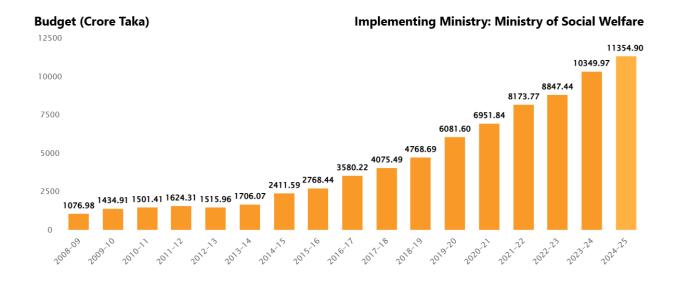

2.1. Ministry of Social Welfare

The Ministry of Social Welfare in Bangladesh plays a crucial role in implementing social security programs. It is known for its significant impact, serving a large number of beneficiaries and receiving substantial budget allocations. The ministry manages programs such as Old Age Allowances, Widow Allowances, and support for Persons with Disabilities, among others. It also has a comprehensive program to aid marginalized and disadvantaged groups, including the unemployed, landless, orphans, and individuals with various challenges. The ministry's initiatives align with the National Social Security Strategy, Sustainable Development Goals, and national development plans, focusing on a development-oriented approach rather than charity. The vision of the ministry is to create a "better life and caring society," in line with NSSS's goal of inclusive social security for all. Its mission revolves around providing social security, empowerment, and development for vulnerable groups and persons with disabilities. The ministry's key objective is to enhance the efficiency and inclusivity of lifecycle programs. However, it faces challenges in transitioning the social security system, with the need to meet unaccomplished targets from the previous term of the Action Plan.

The ministry's social protection budgets, including overall allocations and allocations within lifecycle and thematic clusters, are outlined below:

2.2. Ministry of Women and Children Affairs

Under the leadership of Prime Minister Sheikh Hasina, the government of Bangladesh has undertaken significant initiatives aimed at the welfare and development of women and children, recognizing their pivotal role in the nation's progress. Emphasizing the importance of gender equality and child protection, the Ministry of Women and Children Affairs (MoWCA) has aligned its efforts with the government's goals, focusing on poverty reduction, gender equality, and the prevention of violence against women and child rights protection. Through various programs and legal frameworks, MoWCA has empowered women, reduced violence and trafficking, promoted early childhood care, and expanded women's participation in socio-economic activities. The ministry also operates training institutes, offers employment opportunities, and supports small and medium entrepreneurs to enhance women's economic empowerment. While committed to advancing social protection programs for women and children, MoWCA recognizes the need for increased investment in human, technical, and financial resources to achieve these objectives, as outlined in the National Social Security Strategy (NSSS).

| FISCAL YEAR | BENEFICIARY (LAKH) | BUDGET (CRORE TAKA) |

| 2023-24 | 55.00 | 3,903.05 |
| 2024-25 | 56.00 | 4,254.60 |

The graph demonstrates a significant increase in the ministry's social protection budget over time. The Finance Division within the Ministry of Finance is responsible for critical functions such as fiscal policy formulation, budget preparation, financial regulations, and public debt management. It also plays a pivotal role in the design and implementation of social security programs, allocating and disbursing funds for these initiatives. The division's vision is focused on achieving economic growth through prudent financial management, while its mission revolves around ensuring macroeconomic stability and efficient fiscal management to drive economic growth and poverty reduction. Within the National Social Security Strategy (NSSS), the Finance Division's objective is to increase budgetary allocations for social security programs and transition payment systems toward Government to Person (G2P) methods for enhanced financial inclusiveness. Challenges include maintaining macroeconomic stability, sustainable debt management, improving expenditure efficiency, and enhancing the capacity of employees in public financial management.

2.4. Ministry of Disaster Management and Relief

The Ministry of Disaster Management and Relief holds a significant role in social protection, receiving a substantial portion of the government's social security budget. Its primary focus lies in disaster risk management and relief efforts, particularly for the poor and disadvantaged. The ministry also oversees workfare programs to ensure social safety, including food security initiatives, in collaboration with the Ministry of Food. Additionally, it plays a key role in the labor and livelihood intervention cluster as designated by the National Social Security Strategy (NSSS). The ministry's vision is to reduce the impact of natural, environmental, and human-induced hazards, especially on vulnerable populations, by shifting from conventional response and relief to a comprehensive risk reduction approach. The NSSS objectives include strengthening disaster relief and workfare programs. Challenges are diverse, as disaster types vary by geographical location. The ministry's key challenge is to identify disaster-prone areas, update hazard maps, and ensure effective cash and food support in the event of market failures during disasters.

The ministry's vision is to provide quality primary education for all, and its mission is to extend access and improve primary education quality. Its NSSS objective is to continue providing stipends to primary school students and increase the stipend amount. Challenges include ensuring technology safety for parents in rural areas and the need for resources and institutional arrangements for effective school meal program implementation.

2.6. Secondary and Higher Education Division

The Secondary and Higher Education Division, operating under the Ministry of Education in Bangladesh, holds a key role in the policymaking and administration of secondary and tertiary education. It's responsible for high schools and universities, excluding technical and madrasa education. This division shapes policies, laws, and regulations for the post-primary education sector and its institutions, covering approximately 25,227 secondary schools, colleges, and madrasas, along with 37 public and 92 private universities. Their vision is to provide quality education for all, and their mission is to create a skilled and morally advanced workforce through a blend of general, science, and technology-based education. Within the National Social Security Strategy (NSSS), their objective is to expand stipend coverage to 50% of secondary school students and increase stipend amounts. Challenges include low coverage and transfer amounts, with approximately 13 million children receiving stipends, primarily at the primary school level, while coverage for secondary school-age children stands at 17%.

Implementation Progress:

2.7. Technical And Madrasha Education

The Technical and Madrasha Education Division, a part of the Ministry of Education in Bangladesh, is responsible for overseeing technical and madrasha education. This division manages a range of public and private institutions, serving as the foundation for primary education within this sector. Its mission is to develop educated, well-trained, skilled, and morally grounded human resources through a blend of technical, vocational, science, and technology-based education. Within the National Social Security Strategy (NSSS), the division's objectives include increasing stipend coverage for madrasha students to around 50% and enhancing technical education. However, challenges persist as stipend coverage and transfer amounts remain relatively low, with the majority of the approximately 13 million stipend recipients concentrated at the primary school level, and secondary school-age children having only a 17% coverage rate.

2.8. Ministry of Food

The Ministry of Food is a crucial government entity responsible for addressing food availability and storage concerns, with a vision to ensure dependable and sustainable food security. Its mission involves adopting integrated food grain procurement policies, sustainable food grain preservation management, and ensuring people's food security by providing adequate, safe, and nutritious food. Within the National Social Security Strategy (NSSS), the ministry's strategic objective is to streamline food security programs. While food poverty has significantly reduced, the government recognizes the need to transition towards cash transfer programs due to the changing economic and demographic landscape. In light of global economic shocks and challenges, the ministry's role in social protection remains vital, and it is adapting well to address these issues.

2.9. Ministry of Agriculture

The Ministry of Agriculture in Bangladesh plays a vital role in enhancing the well-being of a substantial portion of the population by focusing on improving agricultural productivity, profitability, and generating employment in rural areas. Agriculture directly influences food and nutritional security, income opportunities, and poverty reduction. The ministry's vision centers on achieving sustainable, safe, and profitable crop production, while its mission is to enhance food security through increased crop productivity, improved marketing systems, crop diversification, and the production of more nutritious crops. Within the National Social Security Strategy (NSSS), the ministry's objectives revolve around supporting food security by promoting sustained growth in production and agricultural employment. It faces several challenges, including decreasing agricultural land, population growth, climate change, rapid urbanization, agricultural research and education, adapting technology to changing needs, and disseminating technology to farmers.

2.10. Ministry of Fisheries and Livestock

The Ministry of Fisheries and Livestock is a crucial player in ensuring food and nutrition security within the realm of social security. Its programs encompass human development and livelihood interventions, with a vision to guarantee safe and secure animal protein for all. The ministry's mission revolves around meeting the demand for animal protein by enhancing the production, productivity, and value addition of fish and livestock products. Within the National Social Security Strategy (NSSS), the ministry aims to provide social security to fishermen during seasonal unemployment and improve livelihood development for poor farmers in the livestock sector. There is a need to transition food security programs into cash transfers where feasible. Challenges include addressing food insecurity among the fishing community during lean seasons, providing adequate food security support to small and marginal farmers and livestock during natural hazard periods, and enhancing value addition in dairy and poultry products, all while grappling with the impacts of the COVID-19 pandemic.

2.20. Local Government Division

The Local Government Division (LGD) plays a crucial role in the implementation of social protection programs in Bangladesh. It serves both as a direct implementor of several programs, such as vulnerable group development and food-for-work initiatives, and as a vital supporting body for beneficiary selection in others, leveraging its extensive local network. This deep understanding of local communities makes the LGD uniquely positioned to identify and target those most in need of assistance, ensuring that social protection programs reach the most vulnerable populations effectively and efficiently. Consequently, the National Social Security Strategy (NSSS) Action Plan recognizes the LGD's critical function and incorporates relevant actions to strengthen its capacity and enhance its contribution to social protection efforts.

2.24. Ministry of Housing and Public Works

The Ministry of Housing and Public Works contributes to social protection by ensuring access to safe and affordable housing, a fundamental human need and a key determinant of well-being. Through initiatives such as public housing projects, housing finance schemes, and building code regulations, the Ministry strives to improve living conditions and create a more secure and stable environment for vulnerable populations. By addressing housing insecurity and promoting sustainable housing solutions, the Ministry plays a crucial role in enhancing social protection and reducing vulnerability to poverty and social exclusion. The NSSS Action Plan acknowledges the importance of housing in social protection by including actions to strengthen the Ministry's capacity to provide affordable housing options and improve housing conditions for low-income families.

2.25. Ministry of Land

The Ministry of Land plays a critical role in social protection by addressing landlessness, a major contributor to poverty and vulnerability in Bangladesh. The Ministry is involved in providing various services to landless and marginalized communities, including land surveying, record-keeping, and distribution of khas land (government-owned land). Crucially, the Ministry is actively involved in scaling up housing programs for landless people, providing them with secure land tenure and access to safe and affordable shelter. These initiatives not only improve living conditions but also empower landless families by providing them with a valuable asset and a foundation for economic stability. The NSSS Action Plan recognizes this contribution by including actions to further strengthen the Ministry's capacity to address landlessness and expand housing programs for the most vulnerable populations.

2.26. General Economics Division (GED)

While the General Economics Division (GED) may not have direct programs for social protection, its role is crucial in the planning, research, and overall effectiveness of social protection initiatives in Bangladesh. The GED provides essential economic analysis and policy recommendations that inform the design and implementation of social protection programs across various ministries. Its research on poverty, inequality, and macroeconomic trends helps to identify vulnerabilities and prioritize interventions. Furthermore, the GED plays a critical cross-cutting role by coordinating with other ministries, particularly the Cabinet Division, to ensure that social protection strategies are aligned with national development goals and macroeconomic policies. This collaborative approach strengthens the overall impact and sustainability of social protection efforts in Bangladesh. The NSSS Action Plan recognizes the GED's contributions by emphasizing the importance of evidence-based policymaking and inter-ministerial coordination in achieving social protection objectives.

2.27. Implementation Monitoring and Evaluation Division (IMED)

The Implementation Monitoring and Evaluation Division (IMED) plays a crucial role in strengthening social protection by monitoring and evaluating program effectiveness across ministries. IMED tracks progress, identifies challenges, and assesses outcomes to inform policy adjustments and program improvements. This ensures that social protection interventions achieve their goals and resources are used effectively. Collaboration with other ministries fosters a culture of learning and accountability, contributing to the overall efficiency and sustainability of social protection efforts.

2.28. Statistics and Informatics Division (SID)

The Statistics and Informatics Division (SID), while lacking direct social protection programs, plays a crucial role in supporting the development and implementation of a single registry (MIS) for beneficiaries. By utilizing its expertise in data analysis and statistical modeling, SID helps to identify and target vulnerable populations through proxy means testing. This involves using readily available data, such as household characteristics and asset ownership, to estimate income and poverty levels, enabling efficient and effective identification of those most in need of social protection. SID's contribution is essential for ensuring that social protection programs are well-targeted and reach the most vulnerable segments of the population, ultimately contributing to a more equitable and inclusive social protection system in Bangladesh. The NSSS Action Plan highlights the importance of SID's role in strengthening the targeting mechanism for social protection programs and improving data-driven decision-making.

2.29. Planning Division

Although the Planning Division has minimal direct involvement in social protection programs, it plays a critical role in shaping the overall policy landscape. The Planning Division supports the strengthening of social security policy and strategies by providing valuable input and technical expertise. It actively participates in dialogues with key stakeholders, such as the General Economics Division (GED) and the Cabinet Division, to review and refine social security policies, ensuring alignment with national development goals and priorities. This collaborative approach facilitates effective planning and coordination across sectors, contributing to a comprehensive and cohesive social protection framework in Bangladesh. The NSSS Action Plan acknowledges the Planning Division's role in guiding the strategic direction of social protection efforts and fostering inter-ministerial collaboration for effective implementation.

3. Action Plans of the Thematic Clusters

To enhance coordination and effectiveness among various ministries involved in social protection efforts, Bangladesh has adopted a thematic cluster approach. There are five thematic distinct clusters—Social Allowance, Food Security, Labour and Livelihood, Social Insurance, and Human Development and Social Empowerment—have been established to streamline program implementation and maximize impact. Each cluster operates with a dedicated action plan outlining specific objectives, strategies, and interventions tailored to its respective domain. This framework ensures alignment of programs, optimized resource allocation, and ultimately, the delivery of comprehensive and effective support to beneficiaries facing various vulnerabilities.

A key responsibility of each thematic cluster is to foster collaboration and coordination among the various ministries and divisions involved in its respective domain. This includes establishing clear communication channels, sharing information and data, and harmonizing program implementation. By working together, the clusters can avoid duplication of efforts, identify synergies, and maximize the impact of social protection interventions.

Furthermore, the thematic clusters are responsible for sensitizing relevant officials on critical issues within their respective areas. This involves raising awareness about specific vulnerabilities, promoting best practices, and building capacity for effective program implementation. The clusters also play a crucial role in planning the consolidation of programs and ensuring a smooth transition of beneficiaries from one program to another, as their needs evolve. This integrated approach ensures that individuals receive continuous support and are empowered to overcome challenges and improve their well-being.
